

Victory over Radical Left's Culture of Death Is within the Grasp of Pro-Life Conservatives

STEVE MOSHER

Just when the Left was steamrolling us in the culture war, we look to have won a great victory.

According to the leaked draft of the Alito opinion, five of the justices of the Supreme Court have agreed that Roe v. Wade must go. Nearly a half-century after this infamous decision was handed down by their predecessors, the new conservative majority is going to send the matter back to the states.

Everyone has long recognized that Roe, in the words of my late friend Judge Robert Bork, “was a raw act of judicial tyranny.” It invented a “right” to abortion out of whole cloth. Yet the Leftists had succeeded in quietly installing so many of their own on the highest court in the land that the vote was 7 to 2 in favor of the blatantly unconstitutional opinion.

They would not have succeeded if not for the inattention of Republican presidents. The story of Harry Blackmun, who wrote the poorly argued opinion, is a perfect illustration of this. President Richard Nixon was unabashedly pro-life, yet he nominated Blackmun to the Supreme Court on the advice of Republican senators who assured him that Blackmun was a “conservative.” After Roe came out, Nixon complained that he had been misled. Indeed he had been. Blackmun turned out to be one of the most Leftist justices in American history.

The Left, knowing that most Americans are culturally conservative, pro-life, and pro-family, has for a century operated on the understanding that the easiest way to

by Steven W. Mosher

If the Party of Abortion is allowed to continue massively cheating in elections, any hope of ending abortion in the U.S. will vanish. Instead, they will legalize abortion up to birth and beyond throughout the entire country. Election integrity is a pro-life issue.

I have known about the efforts of Catherine Englebrecht and True the Vote to investigate the 2020 election for at least a year.¹ And I have known for many months that the great conservative filmmaker, Dinesh D'Souza, was making a documentary about their efforts.²

But seeing the actual film was still a revelation—for the work of True the Vote, as laid out by Dinesh, makes disturbingly clear that the 2020 election was probably stolen by Democrat operatives.³

By watching 2000 Mules you will learn how True the Vote plotted out on maps exactly where the mail-in ballot drop-boxes were in cities like Atlanta, Detroit, and Philadelphia, where massive voter fraud has long been suspected. They then put what they called a “geo-fence” around each drop-box.⁴

At the same time, they obtained terabytes of cell phone geo-tracking data in key swing states for the weeks before and up to the 2020 election. Running the geo-tracking data against the geo-fence coordinates, they then were able to see exactly which cell phones approached which drop boxes, and how many times they did so.

Those people who only visited the drop-boxes a few times, maybe dropping off a ballot for themselves, grandpa and grandma were eliminated. What was left were thousands and thousands of cell phone carriers who visited drop box after drop-box, night after night, sometimes for days or weeks on end during the early voting period.

But the icing on the ballot trafficking cake came when True the Vote was able to get 4 million hours of video footage in some of these same states. They were then able to identify the cell phone carriers—True the Vote calls them “mules”—and observe their behavior. What they show—and what you see with agonizing clarity in the documentary—are ballot trafficking “mules” approaching a drop-box, usually in the wee hours of the morning, taking a handful of ballots out of a bag or backpack, and stuffing them in the ballot box. Over and over and over again.

You will leave the documentary convinced that this was a planned and coordinated conspiracy to add tens or hundreds of thousands of illegal ballots in every single battleground state. All together, True the Vote estimates that perhaps 7 percent of the mail-in ballots were trafficked. And, even using the most conservative estimates for how many mules stuffed how many ballots, they believe that, based on the evidence they've collected, the 2020 election was stolen.

So where do we go from here?

The first thing to do is watch the documentary for yourself. If you have already done so, then encourage your friends and family to watch it as well. No major news agency has carried news of 2000 Mules. There is simply no way to explain away the cell phone and video evidence of the Democratic party's illegal acts. And so they don't even try.

The conservative media has been largely silent as well. Aside from Tucker's interview with Catherine Englebrecht last week, Fox News has been silent on the 2020 election heist, and the documentary itself has gone unmentioned.⁵

And from the Republican Party's social media accounts—crickets. Its leaders in Congress, themselves safely re-elected, are afraid to confront those who have systematically defrauded the American people of their true president.

As far as state and federal law enforcement agencies, they have taken no action to address the election heist either. True the Vote provided their data to the Georgia Bureau of Investigation last year, and nothing has been done. Perhaps not surprisingly, the FBI has not been on the case either.

It is impossible to exaggerate how precise the geolocation data for smartphones has become.

It would not be difficult for the FBI, or Homeland Security, to identify and interview each and every one of the mules pinpointed by True the Votes efforts. But, as far as we know, they have not even begun to do so.

So it is up to ordinary American citizens—you and me.

“ Seeing the actual film was still a revelation.

The documentary has been doing phenomenally well, but 2000 Mules must do even better, so spread the word.⁶

Americans must raise such a cry that the Republican Party will find its voice, and law enforcement agencies will be forced to investigate.

If there are no consequences for the electoral fraud that Democrat operatives have perpetrated on the American people, they will do it again. And next time they will be even more brazen.

advance their agenda is through the courts. They carefully vet their candidates, making sure that they are judicial activists who are committed to their radical agenda. That's how they surreptitiously achieved their initial 7 to 2 majority.

They have been aided over the decades by moderate Republican senators—RINOs, if you will—who have refused to abide by the Party's pro-life platform. Instead, RINOs like Susan Collins of Maine or Lisa Murkowski of Alaska have repeatedly crossed party lines to vote for even the most radically pro-abortion nominees put forward by Clinton and Obama, even when those nominated were obviously unqualified.

Until recently, supposedly pro-life presidents simply did not pursue control of the federal court system with equal vigor. It was not just that they did not impose a pro-life "litmus test" on their nominees, they barely pressed them on the issues at all. Instead, they were content to simply accept bland assurances from their nominees that they would abide by the US Constitution.

Certainly, the two Bushes, both Republicans and both at least nominally pro-life, were careless in their nominations, if not clueless. They often sought to avoid controversy by nominating supposed "moderates" to the court. That's how we got chameleons like Justice David Souter, nominated by the first Bush, who quickly joined the progressive wing of the court. And it was his son George who put Chief Justice John Roberts on the court. Although we were assured that Roberts was pro-life, he has repeatedly betrayed the unborn in the years since and is now reportedly prepared to do so again: he is not joining the majority in overturning Roe v. Wade.¹

As far as Senate Republicans, they, too, have all too often proven unwilling to hold the line. No Democrat nominee to the federal bench, much less to the Supreme Court, has ever been greeted by the Republicans with the kinds of vicious personal attacks that the Democrats routinely unleash on pro-life conservative nominees.

Some may remember that when President Reagan nominated Judge Robert Bork to the Supreme Court, he was so brutally attacked by the Party of Abortion that his surname became a byword for character assassination. When the Senate failed to confirm him, people said that he had been “Borked.” They tried the same tactics on Justice Clarence Thomas a couple of years later. Thomas managed, with grace and character, to survive the Democrats’ attempted “hi-tech lynching,” as he called it, and won confirmation.

What ultimately changed the composition of the Supreme Court and put us on the cusp of a historic victory was—us. Through disappointment after disappointment, we in the pro-life movement never gave up.

More and more pro-life groups were organized at the state and local levels as the years passed, and hundreds of laws restricting abortion were passed by state legislatures and signed into law. The annual March for Life in Washington, D.C., continued to attract more marchers with each passing year and quickly became the longest as well as the largest continuing public demonstration in U.S. history.

As we mobilized and marched, we began demanding that self-declared pro-life politicians act on their campaign promises. We primaryed and defeated RINOs who were unwilling to fight for the unborn. We rewrote the platform of the Republican Party to put it squarely behind the cause of life. And over time, we transformed the Republican Party—which at the time of Roe’s passage was deeply divided on the question of abortion—into the Party of Life. And we never ever accepted the idea that Roe was “settled law.”

We created, in effect, a pro-life litmus test for every local, state, and federal office, up to and including the presidency. From President Reagan on, no Republican could hope to win his party’s nomination for president without convincing the pro-life movement that he was pro-life.

That’s why, when President Trump announced that he was running for the Republican nomination, one of the first things he did was reach out PRI's special gift to you . . .

This book is needed now, more than ever before

With traditional Church teaching under attack from many quarters, this gift book from PRI is “must reading.” It is Christian Social Principles by Sister Mary Consilia O’Brien, O.P., with an introduction by Venerable Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen. The book was originally published 81 years ago. Sophia Press has just recently brought it back.

Christian Social Principles, in the words of the author, “...is written to give you a better understanding of the nature and purpose of man, the desires which motivate him, and the tools of means with which he is equipped to fulfill his divinely ordained destiny, to attain his ultimate end.”

The book is not simply a shallow examination of traditional Church teaching. Instead, its 480 pages give you in-depth insights into these and many other specifics . . .

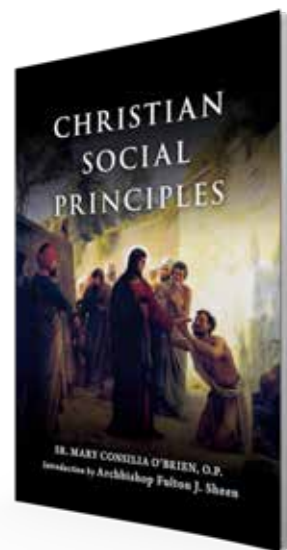

- That the basis of civil society is the individual and the family, not the individual alone or the family alone...the times when individual liberties must take precedence over social control...the blessings of matrimony...the role of the state in relationship to the family . . .
- Why liberalism and communism are opposite extremes from Christian teaching, and why liberalism is the fast track to communism...how economic dictatorship corrupts men...what is required to unite people of the world...why authority is necessary...the virtues required in social living...why government often fails when religion is lacking among those it governs . . .

Plus Christian Social Principles gives you this . . .

- The book draws extensively on the teachings of St. Thomas Aquinas and encyclicals from Pope Leo XIII and Pope Pius XI. And, each of the book's 24 chapters concludes with a concise point-by-point summary of the points presented in the chapter, along with study and discussion questions.

That is just a very brief look at all that is explained and discussed in Christian Social Principles. There is not enough space here to touch on all that the book covers. So, if I may, I suggest that you let us send you Christian Social Principles and benefit from its entire and very deep content. Sending you this “must read” book is our way of thanking you for your much-needed gift of $50 or more.

Your support now will immediately help fund all PRI programs – including our fight to outlaw abortion in states across America...our donations of sonogram scanners to pro-life hospitals in remote areas of Africa and Latin America...and many other programs that defend life, family and the Church.

The Supreme Court Prepares to Overturn Roe v. Wade, While the Left Prepares to Wage War

by Carlos Polo, Director, PRI Latin American Office

Pro-lifers across America were hopeful that the Supreme Court would overturn Roe v. Wade and return the issue of abortion to the state legislatures where it belongs. Apparently, a majority of the Supreme Court has decided to do just that.

This is cause for celebration. The lives of millions of unborn children will be saved.

What is not cause for celebration is that, for the first time in the history of the Supreme Court, a “draft opinion” has been leaked to the press.

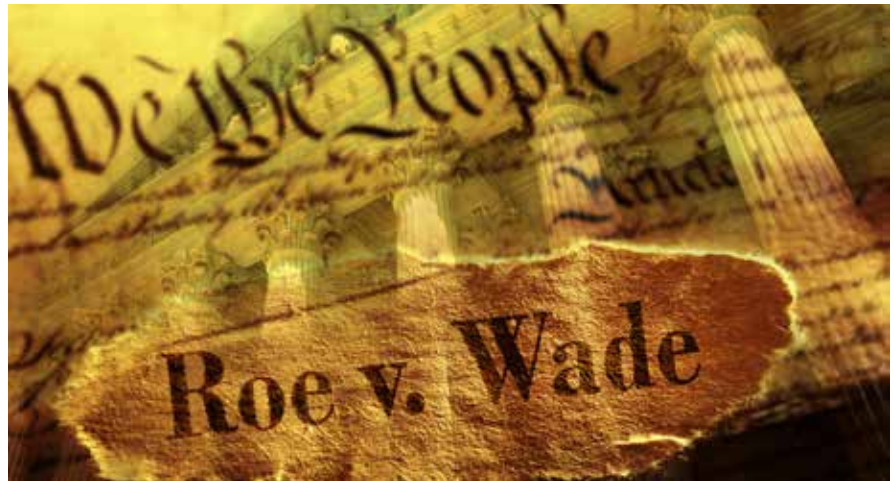

This is not just a heinous breach of trust by a member, or members, of an organization that relies upon such trust and discretion to carry out its work.

Until now, the Supreme Court has been the only American institution of government that has maintained its internal integrity, those bonds of trust that enable those of differing political opinions to work together amicably.

No more.

The leak of the draft opinion is no random act. It is a carefully calibrated crime to destroy the most prominent Constitutional barrier to universal abortion on demand forever.

We can expect riots to begin outside of the Supreme Court by the usual suspects—radical feminists, Antifa, and BLM—riots that will take place with the express intent of intimidating the justices of the Court into revising or withdrawing the draft opinion.

This will be an “insurrection”—although the media will not frame it as such—against one of the three co-equal branches of government. Its purpose will be to obstruct an official proceeding—the deliberations of the Supreme Court in a matter of life and death.

Do not expect the Capitol Police, also known as Nancy Pelosi’s Praetorian Guard, to aggressively protect the Court from demonstrators. We predict that they will stand idly by in the face of any violence.

Do not expect those who engage in violent acts to be charged or, if charged, to be prosecuted. There is a two-tiered system of justice in our nation’s capital, and left-wing rioters are a protected class.

Whatever the final decision issued by the Supreme Court in June, this insurrection may well continue up until the fall elections.

Americans need to remember that the hard Left, which now controls the Democrat Party, is always at war. They hate the restraints imposed by the Constitution on their radical agenda and are eager to destroy those remaining.

Their half-century-long war on the unborn is proof of their unbri-dled lust for power. If they can kill the most innocent among us, they will kill anybody. Their fellow Left-ists abroad certainly have, by the tens of millions.

We must pray for the safety of the Supreme Court justices who will sign this opinion and for their families. They will be enduring a living Hell in the months to come. May they have courage.

PRI's Ibero-American Director Unanimously Elected To IRTLTF Board

by Carlos Beltramo, Director, PRI European Office

Carlos Polo, Director of the PRI Ibero-American office, is the newest board member of the International Right to Life Federation (IRTLTF).

The IRTLTF is known as one of the world's most powerful networks of pro-life organizations. Its members share vital research supporting the legal protection of all innocent human life from conception to natural death worldwide. The organization has been promoting critical scientific, educational and social assistance initiatives for 38 years.

The IRTLTF was founded in 1984 by Dr. John C. Willke, a pro-life pioneer who served as its President until 2012. The group divides its activity into 11 geographical regions: the United States, Canada, Ibero-America, Africa, the Indian subcontinent, the United Kingdom, Western Europe, Australia/New Zealand, Pacific Rim, and Eastern and Central Europe. The Board of Directors comprises twelve members: the President and one representative from each region. As of April 26, Carlos Polo now serves as the Board's representative from Ibero-America.

In 2012, Dr. Wilke was succeeded by Bradley Mattes, who founded the IRTLTF with Dr. Wilke. Mattes tells the Weekly Briefing that a unanimous vote approved Polo's appointment to the Board of Directors by the Board members.

Steven W. Mosher, President of PRI, cheered Polo's appointment and said: "This is quite an honor. And it is also a recognition of the importance of Carlos' ongoing contribution to the Culture of Life throughout what we are now calling the Ibero-American region. May God continue to bless your efforts on behalf of Life, Carlos! We are all proud to be associated with you."

Carlos Polo is a leader with a long history of efficient pro-life work. In virtually every major pro-life battle of the last twenty years, Carlos has played a role, often behind the scenes, as he assisted other Ibero-American groups, contributing his experience and expertise. No group in Ibero-America has not received his visit or help at one time or another. He has now expanded his efforts to help allies in Europe and beyond.

Polo's work in recent years has focused on creating analytical and strategic tools that enable pro-life leaders to improve their skills. These tools aim to allow these leaders to participate in public life successfully. He has taught more than 100 courses in 18 countries, benefiting more than 3,500 pro-life activists.

Together, Carlos and this author have written two books: Análisis de Escenario con Mentalidad de Ajedrecista (2012) and Que no decidan por ti. Doing Politics in the Post-Truth Era (2018). We have also edited the books Pandemonium I, II, and III (2020 -2021), with more than 500,000 downloads in Spanish-speaking America.

“No group in Ibero-America has not received Carlos Polo's visit or help at one time or another.”

A Peruvian native, Polo and his wife Maria Elisa have three children on earth and two in heaven. After working as a consultant in the private sector for several years, he has dedicated himself entirely to promoting the pro-life cause for more than two decades. His university degree in Social Anthropology has contributed to his keen understanding of the relationship between people's daily lives, politics, and the pro-life cause.

In addition to directing the PRI Office in Latin America, Polo is a member of the Board of CitizenGO, a digital platform with more than 17 million members that coordinates citizen activism in 12 languages. He is a member of the Board of Directors of Hazteoir. This most recognized Spanish citizen association promotes the person's rights, the family, and the value of life. He is also part of the Committee of Experts of Political Network for Values, a global platform of political representatives for the promotion of the protection of human life, marriage, the family, and freedom of religion and conscience. And finally, he is a Knight of Columbus and a member of its Foundational Council in Peru.

In 2016, the Seventh International Pro-Life Congress awarded Carlos the Humanitarian Award for his outstanding contribution to the international pro-human-life and pro-family movement. This author had the pleasure of presenting that award in Guatemala City and was joined by numerous leaders from the region gathered.

Carlos has also played a key role in achieving the astounding success of Peru's March for Life, the largest such demonstration in the region in which nearly one million people participate every year. Peru's March has served as a model for similar demonstrations throughout Ibero-America.

The PRI staff is proud of Carlos' work. We believe that his appointment to the IRTLTF Board will increase the impact of both institutions. His appointment represents an important moment in our efforts in the worldwide battle for the culture of life.

Carlos Polo's lifetime of dedication and hard work serves as an example for pro-lifers worldwide.

Letters

Mr. Mosher,

Just wanted to say thank you for the working paper on the Sino-Vatican Agreement you sent me to help me write my thesis. It aided me greatly, and I learned a lot from you and your powerful experiences in China. I made the argument that the CPCA is a "dragon in sheep's clothing." Along with also talking about how the Vatican has lent the CPCA the power to appoint bishops.

Thank you once again.
God bless,
Eric Klekas

Steven,

I just finished your book, "The Bully of Asia," which I received while serving in the U.S. Congress. I wished I had read this while serving. I was the Chairman of the Asia -Pacific subcommittee during the 115th Congress. The information would have reinforced my strong stance on US-China policies. I find your book to be more relevant today than ever before as we see the intent of Xi and the CCP preparing for the Middle Kingdom to become the world's Hegemon in the not to distant future.

I have promoted your book extensively to members of Congress, and as recently as yesterday, I was in DC attending a meeting with the Sasakawa Peace Foundation and introduced a Japanese delegation to your book. They wrote down the title and were very interested in it.

If I can ever be of service, please feel free to contact me. Thank you for the great book.

Sincerely,
Ted Yoho

HUMANAE VITAE COALITION

Dobbs Sets the Stage for a Historic Election

by Dr. Christopher Manion, Director of the Humanae Vitae Project

This November's elections will mark a critical turning point for pro-lifers.

Motivated as never before, defenders of the unborn will be active nationwide — this time, concentrating on the state and local levels.

That's because, for the first time in 50 years, candidates who win state legislative races will once more be responsible for exercising the "Rights of the States and of the People" — rights guaranteed by the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution.

In the case of abortion, those rights have been arbitrarily denied by the Court's lethal 1973 decision in Roe v. Wade, which the Supreme Court has now found to be unconstitutional.

The Dobbs decision offers us a historic opportunity. It represents a wake-up call that millions of us have been praying for since 1973.

While the door is now open for states to exercise their rights protected by the Constitution, the path will not be clear sailing for supporters of life.

We have a lot of work to do.

Beware of the Schumer Standard

In May, the Guttmacher Institute identified twenty-six states that are "certain or likely" to pass legislation banning abortion once Roe v. Wade is overturned.¹

As PRI President Steve Mosher makes clear in this issue, pro-abortion forces nationwide will act with laser-beam focus to advance their cause in every possible way. And we should take their threats seriously: in their view, the Supreme Court "broke the law" when it overturned Roe. Why should they follow the law in their efforts to restore it?

The demand for pro-abortion violence resonates with the threat leveled by Senate Democrat Leader Chuck Schumer on March 4, 2020: "I want to tell you Neil Gorsuch, and you Brett Kavanaugh," Schumer shouted in front of the Supreme Court at a pro-abortion demonstration. "You have unleashed a whirlwind, and you will pay the price," he continued.²

"You won't know what hit you if you go forward with these awful decisions," he threatened.

This May, the pro-abortion "Women's March" demanded a "Summer of Rage" if Roe were overturned.³ Their threat of violence was no joke: we recall how the massive riots, violence, and destruction during the summer of 2020 destroyed dozens of lives and thousands of livelihoods. Activists led by the anti-family, pro-abortion Black Lives Matter group — founded and led by an avowed Marxist — declared that law enforcement was the enemy.⁴ In the ensuing carnage and chaos, thousands of violent criminals nationwide escaped arrest and punishment.

"Raise Hell, no sweat" — that was 2020's message for today's pro-abortion radicals.

Know the Enemy, Be Prepared, and Pray!

Students of the Left know that its violence does not merely represent an outburst of frustration that will soon diminish when things "return to normal."

Rest assured, for the Left, chaos is the "normal." Its threats and the accompanying violence are designed to intimidate, attract new recruits, and create and perpetuate chaos. These factors are designed to discredit and weaken respected institutions while intimidating those who defend them — and ultimately to defeat them, and destroy them.

And one of the most vital institutions to the survival of our Republic is the integrity of free and fair elections.

The outcome of this November's elections will determine the makeup of 88 state legislative chambers in 46 states. Over 6000 seats will be in play.

Will they be peaceful?

We note that when demonstrators gathered illegally at the family residences of several Justices supporting the draft of the Court's majority opinion in Dobbs, Attorney General Merrick Garland allowed to the pro-life movement. Then in July 2016, he invited several hundred of us to New York City to ask for our support and find out what actions we would expect him to take on behalf of the unborn if he were elected president. At the very top of our list of pro-life priorities, we made clear to him, was putting pro-life judges on the federal bench and, if the opportunity arose, on the Supreme Court. He assured us that he would.

Trump kept his word. For four long years, he nominated hundreds of pro-life federal judges who will be on the court for decades to come. The radical left did their best to “bork” many of his nominees, but they failed in almost every instance, in large part because Trump not only made excellent choices but backed them to the hilt. The attacks reached a crescendo with the attempted personal destruction of Brett Kavanaugh, but Trump never wavered.

Trump’s Supreme Court nominees—Neil Gorsuch, Amy Coney

Barrett, and Brett Kavanaugh—joined by Justices Clarence Thomas and Samuel Alito, comprise the Magnificent Five, who will soon release their historic opinion. It is no accident that most of them are serious Catholics who understand that every child is a gift from God and that abortion is a great evil.

We have already had a preview of the hysterics that will greet the end of Roe v. Wade in the United States. It is no exaggeration to say that, for many on the Left, the sacrifice of unborn children is the functional equivalent of a sacrament in their secular humanist religion.

- Child sacrifice is how radical feminists imagine that they free themselves from patriarchy and destroy the family.
- Child sacrifice is how radical environmentalists propitiate the planet for the “eco-sins” of humanity.
- Child sacrifice, along with euthanasia, is how the radical population controllers seek to un-people the planet.

And now they are about to lose one of their primary weapons in their war against the unborn, Roe v. Wade.

This is a time to celebrate and realize what this means: We can beat the radical Left in this country if we organize and stay focused. We can beat them at the ballot box, and we can beat them in the courts. We can stop the Left from stealing elections and ensure election integrity. We can drive the transgender mania out of our public schools and fire Leftist teachers who try to groom our kids. We can stop the Critical Race Theory insanity, which condemns people as racist because of the color of their skin.

The radical Left is the sworn enemy of marriage, family, freedom, and Life itself. But now, because of our great victory over Roe v. Wade, we know we can beat them.

And for God, family, and country, we will.

several days to pass before providing protection by Federal Marshalls around those homes.⁵

For the Left, a “Red Wave” in November was always an illusion waiting to be shattered. “Everything that furthers the Revolution is ethical,” said Lenin, and for them, abortion is “everything.”

If Supreme Court Justices can’t be sure they will be protected, what protection can over 10,000 legislative candidates for state offices across the country expect from law enforcement?

PRI President Steve Mosher argues that “election integrity is a pro-life issue.” He’s right – and that means that the destruction of election integrity is a pro-abortion issue.⁶

This November, the pro-abortion movement wants the words of Senate Democrat Leader Chuck Schumer to ring in the ears of every pro-life candidate and voter in America. “You won’t know what hit you,”

We’d better be ready.

ITALY

Low Birth Rate Is a “Social Emergency”

Pope Francis declared that the lowering birth rates in the Western world are bringing about a “new poverty.”¹ He announced this at the second edition of the meeting “The General State of the Birth Rate,” held in Rome on May 12-13.

He continued that the lowering birth rates are “impoverishing everyone’s future,” as now men and women are feeling the loss of the joy of children and are trying to fill that loss with a new devotion to “mediocre substitutes,” like cars, travel and other such momentary pleasures.

The decrution of birth rates is starting to scare Pope Francis as he says, “The beauty of a family full of children is in danger of becoming a utopia, a dream difficult to realize,”

According to his message, children bring about one of life’s greatest joys and fulfillment. Without that, people will become lost and confused about their purpose. The current situation needs to be remedied and remedied quickly.

UNITED KINGDOM

DIY Abortions Made Permanent

DIY abortions are on the brink of becoming a permanent form of “health care” for women across the UK.² “Alithea Williams, SPUC’s Public Policy Manager, said: “It is disgusting that a Healthcare bill has been hijacked to push through something that is not healthcare by any definition.” The government implicated DIY abortions during Covid-19 as a safety measure to decrease the spread of the sickness. Now that the public health crisis is over, they are permanently trying to keep DIY abortions. This procedure has substantial evidence of being dangerous not only for the unborn child but the mother too; however, the government is choosing to ignore such evidence.

CHINA

Vatican should stop ignoring facts

Since the Vatican, under the direction of Pope Francis, has collaborated with the CCP in China, the Faithful in China have suffered.³ Allowing the CCP to have control over the Church in China is a movement that would inevitably end up going south. The morals of the Church and the CCP are vastly different. The end goal of the CCP is for its citizens to honor, respect, and praise the Party — therefore ultimately making the Party their god. This clashes with the views of the Catholic Church. “The Party’s new directive states that any religious group that does not teach socialism [i.e., Communism] and the Party line, and does not teach its members to love the Party and socialism, is a ‘backward’ religion engaged in ‘illegal religious activities,’ and is to be stamped out.” With the CCP making such statements and the “increasing persecution of all religions in China by the CCP” since the agreement was made it seems pointless even to give them another chance to work with the Vatican. It is clear to all that the Sino-Vatican agreement should not be continued.

PRI IN THE NEWS

The Epoch Times President Biden—End This War

MAY 26TH, 2022—President of PRI Steve Mosher discusses the need for the war between Russia and Ukraine to come to a stop. He says, “We need to be encouraging Zelenskyy to negotiate, not recklessly urging him to fight to the last Ukrainian.” Most want to see Russia weakened and destroyed but Mr. Mosher points out that that is not possible for Ukraine to do — “while Ukraine may not lose this war, it cannot win it either”. The war needs to end before it turns into a forever war against a country with nuclear weapons.

Fox News Shanghai lockdowns are simply a power struggle

APRIL 20TH, 2022—Steve Mosher in an interview with Fox News, states that the Shanghai Lockdown makes no “epidemiological sense”. It is simply a way for Xi Jinping to save face for there is “a power struggling” happening. Xi Jinping wants covid levels to be at zero — to prove that all the lockdowns have not been in vain, as it is becoming a possibility of him not being elected for a third term as President of the People's Republic of China.

Musk applauded for warning about falling birth rates

APRIL 8TH, 2022—American Family News references president of PRI Steven Mosher to back up Elon Musk’s statement, “there are not enough people”. Mr. Mosher supports Musk with, “It is true the world’s birth rate has been declining for decades, which is a serious problem... and that warning runs counter to the radical environmentalists who warn the Earth is running out of resources to sustain us.”
